THE MECHANICS'-LIEN LAW. An Amendment Limiting Its Opera-

In the Senate yesterday Mr. Ellyson called up out of its order Senate Bill 393, in regard to mechanics' liens. He offered an amendment limiting the operations of the law to cities of 5,000 in-habitants and over. This is an amendment agreed upon by the committee of ub-contractors having the matter in charge,

Mr. Harrison was opposed to the amendment. He thought that there ought to be one law for both city and

Mr. Ellyson explained that there was a reason for the difference. The large extent of building operations in the cities made a mechanics'-lien law a matter of great importance to them, whilst it was of comparatively little moment to the counties.
